WHEN YOU WERE A STUDENT,
Johnson & Wales University offered a unique, progressive education not found at most universities. And we still do. But it’s even better.

We still research and track the top-growing career fields, and we’ve added a wide range of new, innovative academic programs to help prepare students for those careers. Some of our latest include Biomedical Engineering, Health Science, Public Health and Sustainable Food Systems.

On our campuses, we’ve renovated and created new buildings, including four that are LEED Gold Certified. We’ve developed new athletic fields and facilities, and created more open spaces for students to study and enjoy college life. And, our student organizations are 150+ strong universitywide.

As we did when you were a JWU student, we continue to aim for excellence in academics, student services, career services, experiential education and much more.

LEGACY HAS BENEFITS.

AS A JOHNSON & WALES ALUM, wouldn’t it be great for your family members to experience the same life-changing experiences and opportunities you had as a JWU student? Through our Legacy program, they can.

JWU’s Legacy program, reserved for relatives of alumni, comes with special benefits:

- priority enrollment consideration
- an Admissions representative who works directly with Legacy applicants and families
- up to $4,000 renewable tuition scholarship

To see all that’s new at JWU and learn more about our Legacy program, visit jwu.edu/legacy.

We encourage you to visit JWU and bring your family members along, to get a real sense of how JWU has evolved.

To schedule a campus visit or to Explore from Home, visit jwu.edu/visit.

When your relative is ready to apply to JWU, ask them to visit jwuapply.jwu.edu, and make sure they mention their Legacy relationship on the application.

We hope to see you and your family on campus soon!
