Editorial Style Guide – Overview

Any entity that publishes information on a regular or professional basis uses an editorial style guide (a set of rules for punctuation, spelling, abbreviation, capitalization and grammar). This guide will not answer all your questions or tell you how to spell every word, but it will give you a foundation upon which to base your own writing decisions and help improve the clarity and consistency of all written university communication.

University Communications has assembled these guidelines using the rules set in place by the Associated Press (AP) as its primary authority because much of our writing is intended for external readers — prospective students and their parents, donors, business leaders, news media and the public. To that we have added rules of use for terms that are specific to Johnson & Wales University (JWU) because we also write for readers already familiar with JWU — students, faculty, staff and alumni.

The JWU Editorial Style Guide is to be used for all written communication (including print and web) intended for internal university and external audiences. Universitywide consistency in writing style builds the credibility and effectiveness of our media and greatly enhances our audiences’ understanding of JWU.

Any department that composes correspondence or other written documents should have a copy of the most recent edition of the AP Stylebook or an online AP Style subscription. The AP Stylebook is available from AP (apbookstore.com), at most book retailers or through a JWU bookstore. Webster’s New World College Dictionary (yourdictionary.com) is used to determine correct spelling.

The Editorial Style Guide will be updated annually. Direct all questions to Jennifer Brouillard, senior writer-editor, at 401-598-2355 or jennifer.brouillard@jwu.edu.
Academic Degrees

WHEN TO LOWERCASE
Degrees are lowercased when generalized and spelled out as follows:
- associate degree (no apostrophe) or associate in science degree or associate in applied science degree
- bachelor’s degree (with apostrophe) or bachelor of science degree or bachelor of arts degree
- master’s degree (with apostrophe) or master of science degree
- doctoral degree (with apostrophe) or doctorate in ___ (i.e., philosophy, education, law, psychology) or juris doctorate

She received her bachelor’s and master’s degrees.

My professor earned a bachelor of arts degree.

WHEN TO UPPERCASE
Names of academic degrees and honors are capitalized only when the full formal degree name is used or when the degree name is in a heading.

William Tiefel received an honorary Doctor of Business Administration degree in Hospitality Management at the Providence Campus in 1998.

Diane H. D’Ambra ’05 earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Paralegal Studies from JWU.

He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Zoology from the University of Rhode Island.

See the Certifications section (p.14) for more information.

ABBREVIATIONS
Abbreviate using periods but no spaces in between: B.A., B.S., M.A., M.A.T., M.Ed., M.S., M.S.P.A.S., M.P.H., Ph.D., Ed.D., J.D., etc. Plural form: B.A.s, B.S.s, M.A.s, M.S.s, Ph.D.s, etc. (no apostrophe)
Do not use periods between letters for MBA and DBA.

Doctor
Refer to individuals who hold a doctor of dental surgery, medicine, optometry, osteopathic medicine, podiatric medicine or veterinary medicine with the formal title “Dr.” only at first reference.

Dr. George Bottomley is the founding director of the JWU Physician Assistant Studies program. Bottomley is a native Rhode Islander.

Refer to individuals who hold a non-medical doctoral degree with their appropriate doctoral designation (i.e., Ph.D., Ed.D., J.D., etc.) following their names and only after first reference. Do not refer to these individuals with the formal title “Dr.” in text. When used after a name, an academic abbreviation is set off by commas.

Dean Michael Fein, Ph.D., officiated at the ceremonies. Fein became dean in 2019.

These rules for “Dr.” (or “Drs.” in a plural construction) are also applicable when included in direct quotes.

The title “Dr.” is never used before the name of an honorary degree recipient. Use the appropriate academic abbreviation following a name to denote type of degree (Hon).

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS
An honorary degree recipient is identified with “Hon.” following his or her name.

The Tiefel Professorial Chair, Johnson & Wales University’s first endowed chair, is named after William Tiefel ’98 Hon.

See the Titles section for more information.

Academic Programs
At JWU, programs and majors are used interchangeably. Majors, minors and concentrations are capitalized when referring to the full formal titles.

JWU offers accredited degrees in arts and sciences, business, culinary arts, design and engineering, education, health and wellness, hospitality, nutrition and physician assistant studies. In 2013, the university created a Liberal Studies degree program with a required minor in either Business or Project Management.

Academic Years
Academic years (first-year, sophomore, junior and senior) are always lowercase. On first reference use a student’s anticipated graduation date. Subsequent references should refer to their academic year.

Sarah Smith ’23 writes for The Campus Herald. The first-year student hopes to pursue a career in journalism after graduation.

The university does not use the word “freshmen” to describe first-year students.

Accent Marks
Whenever possible, foreign words and phrases should always be written using appropriate accent marks.

Chaîne de Rôtisseurs
Relais & Châteaux

Often-used anglicized words requiring accent marks include

café résumé fiancé entrée

Consult Webster’s New World College Dictionary or yourdictionary.com to determine if an accent mark(s) should be included with the word.
Acronyms

Acronyms may be used on second reference for names of programs or organizations such as New England Commission of Higher Education (NECHE). Always place the acronym in parentheses following first reference of the full title, if there will be further references.

Johnson & Wales University is accredited by the New England Commission of Higher Education (NECE). NECHE is the nation’s oldest regional accrediting association.

NCAA is acceptable in all references for National Collegiate Athletic Association. It is not necessary to spell out common acronyms on the first reference: AFC, IRL, NASCAR, NBA, NCAA, NFC, NFL and NHL.

Adviser

When referring to a person who advises or offers advice, use the spelling “adviser.”

career adviser, faculty adviser, academic adviser

Alumni

Alumni are students who have graduated from JWU. Use “alumnus” or “alum” (for more casual instances only) when referring to a single JWU graduate, regardless of gender. Use “alumna” only if the female graduate expresses a preference for that term. References to a group of female graduates would also use the term “alumna.” The university no longer uses “alumnae.”

CLASS YEARS

If available, include the year that alumni received their highest-level JWU degree after their names.

Alumni who have earned both bachelor’s and graduate degrees from JWU have their degrees listed in chronological sequence.

Alumni who have earned both associate and bachelor’s degrees from JWU only have their bachelor’s degree listed.

When using the class year after the name of an alumnus, use a left-facing apostrophe or single end quotation mark (‘). It can be accessed by placing the cursor immediately after the last letter of the name, striking the apostrophe key and then adding a space between the two. Use as follows:

• associate or bachelor’s degree: Pat Peterson ’98
• two bachelor’s degrees: Alexandra Rogers ’01, ’05
• bachelor’s and master’s degree:
  John Benevides ’98, ’01 MBA
• honorary degree: William Tiefel ’98 Hon.
• terminal degree from JWU:
  Tarun Malik ’90 M.S., ’11 Ed.D.
• bachelor’s and/or master’s degree from JWU, while terminal degree not from JWU:
  Larry Rice, Ed.D., ’90

Honorary alumni should be designated as such before their name, with the year they were awarded this status following their name.

honorary alumnus Mary Carmody ’04

To refer to class years for current students, see the Academic Years section.

Ampersands

Ampersands are used only when part of a formal name. An ampersand should never be used in place of “and” when it is not part of a name.

The International Baking & Pastry Institute is the official title of the baking and pastry program used throughout the university system.

An ampersand is always used in the name Johnson & Wales University.

Gertrude Johnson and Mary Wales founded Johnson & Wales University in 1914.

Apostrophes

Don’t put an apostrophe after a decade when making it plural: 1980s.

See the Alumni section for information about apostrophes in class years.

Board of Trustees

Capitalize only when used with the formal or full title of the organization.

The Board of Trustees of Johnson & Wales University will be meeting at the beginning of the month.

A new board of trustees is nominated in November.

Bullets

Ensure all the bullet points follow the same grammatical structure (i.e., if one is a full sentence, they all need to be full sentences; same for phrases beginning with a noun, infinitive clauses, etc.).

When thinking about a study abroad program, consider these questions:

• Do you want to study intensively in your major?
• Are language and cultural studies important to you?
• How will study abroad fit into your academic program?
• Will going abroad alter your graduation plans?

Student Involvement & Leadership offers several programs and services:

• student organizations
• concerts
• leadership retreats
• student publications

See the Colons section for rules on the use of a colon preceding a list of bulleted items.
Campus

Use the name of the city where the campus is located, and not the state.

-Providence Campus
-North Miami Campus
-Denver Campus
-Charlotte Campus

When referencing a single campus (e.g., the North Miami Campus), “campus” is capitalized.

When referencing two or more campuses (e.g., the Providence and North Miami campuses), “campuses” is lowercased. List them in the order in which they were founded (Providence, North Miami, Denver and Charlotte).

You may also refer to the campuses as JWU followed by their city name.

-JWU Providence
-JWU North Miami
-JWU Denver
-JWU Charlotte

When referencing a campus by location, never use Johnson & Wales at Denver, at Providence, etc.

Refer to the North Miami, Denver and Charlotte campuses as branch campuses, or individually as a branch campus. Do not refer to these campuses as “regional” or “satellites.”

JWU’s Providence Campus has two distinct locations: the Harborside Campus and the Downcity Campus (not the Downtown Campus).

POSSESSIVE

Singular: When referring to one campus, use campus’.

-The Providence Campus’ Snowden Hall

Plural: When referring to two or more of JWU campuses, use campuses’.

-The Denver and Charlotte campuses’ culinary programs

Campuswide

Campuswide (like systemwide and universitywide) is one word with no hyphen. It is not capitalized.

Colleges

JWU’s colleges and campus locations of each college are

<table>

Colons

Colons are used at the end of a sentence or independent clause to introduce a list, tabulation, text or quotation.

JWU Global consists of three departments:
- Study Abroad
- International Student Services Office
- The BRIDGE

Colons are not used at the end of a dependent clause or an incomplete sentence.

Our graduates’ countries of origin include
- France
- Sweden
- Turkey
- Poland

Capitalize the first word after a colon only if it is a proper noun or the start of a complete sentence.

He promised this: His company will stand behind every product it sells.

There were three selling points: accessibility, location and cost.

Commencement

Lowercase unless used as an official and full title, and then only on first reference.

Johnson & Wales University’s 2019 Commencement will be held Saturday, May 18. The day of commencement is a student milestone.

Cross Country

Use two words, no hyphen, per the U.S. and international governing bodies of the sport.
Dashes

One-en dashes (–) are used between dates, times and scores. There are no spaces used around the dash.

Evening courses run from 6–9 p.m.

One-em dashes (—) are used between clauses when there is a sudden break or abrupt change in thought, or when expanding, explaining or digressing, etc. A space is placed on both sides of the dash.

Many JWU faculty have significant work experience in the fields they teach — they know what it takes to succeed and share that insider knowledge with you.

To insert, simultaneously strike

En dash   Em dash

PC       ctrl, num-  alt, ctrl, num-    (minus sign on keypad)  (minus sign on keypad)

Mac      option, hyphen  shift, option, hyphen

Dates

Capitalize the names of months and spell them out.

In tabular material, use these three-letter forms without a period: Jan, Feb, Mar, Apr, May, Jun, Jul, Aug, Sep, Oct, Nov, Dec.

Do not use a comma between the month and the year. When a phrase refers to a month, day and year, set off the year with a comma.

He graduated in May 2015 and began his graduate studies on September 4, 2015.

When writing about September 11, 2001, refer to it as September 11, not 9/11.

YEARS

Use an “s” without an apostrophe to indicate spans of decades or centuries: the 1890s, the 1900s.

Years are the lone exception to the general rule that a figure is not used to start a sentence.

2014 marked JWU’s 100th birthday.

Days of the Week

Capitalize them.

Do not abbreviate, except when needed in a tabular format: Sun, Mon, Tue, Wed, Thu, Fri, Sat (three letters, without periods, to facilitate tabular composition).

Dean’s List

See the Honors section.

Department Names

See Titles for more information. Also, see the Department Names section of the Glossary (p.19) for formal names of departments and offices.

Dietetics

Use this spelling when referring to the study of the kinds and quantities of food needed for health.

Dietitian

Use this spelling when referring to a person who is an expert in nutrition or dietetics and has met the credentials to achieve that job title.

Directions

When giving directions, the word “exit” is capitalized if it indicates a specific exit as a proper noun.

Take the third left after Exit 29. Follow the signs to the next exit.

Lowercase the compass directions north, south, east and west (including northern, southern, eastern and western) when they are not part of a proper name. Capitalize them when they are used as part of a proper name or region.

the Northwest, but northwestern

the West Coast, but western Washington

E-

“Email” is not hyphenated in print or web.

On the web, do not hyphenate these words.

See the Web Terms section for more information.

Ellipsis

Treat an ellipsis as a three-letter word, constructed with three periods and two spaces, leaving one regular space on both sides of an ellipsis, as shown here (…). Use an ellipsis to indicate the deletion of one or more words when condensing quotes, texts and documents. Be especially careful to avoid deletion that would distort the meaning.

“And so, my fellow Americans: Ask … what you can do for your country.”

Do not use an ellipsis to indicate a pause; use a semicolon or an em dash (—).

Ellipses is plural; ellipsis is singular.

Exclamation Points

Use exclamation points with restraint. They do not add power to a statement when over-used and diminish the credibility of the writer.

Use a comma instead of an exclamation point after mild interjections. End mildly exclamatory sentences with a period instead of an exclamation point.

Apply today, seating is limited.

Not: Apply today! Seating is limited!
Food Service
Food service is two words.

Johnson & Wales University offers a bachelor’s degree in Culinary Arts and Food Service Management.

The only exception is when it is used in the official title of a company or organization that spells it as one word.

Multicultural Foodservice & Hospitality Alliance

Fundraising
Use as one word with no hyphen.

Green
When using the word green in reference to environmentally beneficial or sound initiatives, do not capitalize or put the word in quotes.

Roughly one-quarter of the nation’s utilities serving half of all U.S. electricity customers offer green power programs.

The word green is only capitalized if it is part of a formal title.

Green Dot bystander intervention training sessions are conducted by JWU’s Gender Equity Center to promote safety for all and to communicate complete intolerance for any form of violence.

He/She, His/Her
Wherever possible, use second person (you, your, yours) to eliminate gender reference and make the copy more personal and engaging. When second person is inappropriate or impractical, use gender-inclusive language, such as changing the subject from singular to plural and using “they” and “their.”

Healthcare (JWU EXCEPTION)
Healthcare is one word, no hyphen, in all uses.

Home-School
Home-school is hyphenated in all uses.

Honors
DEAN’S LIST
Dean’s list is lowercased in all uses.

He is on the dean’s list.

LATIN
There are typically three types of academic Latin honors. These honors are not italicized. In order of increasing level of honor, they are

• cum laude (with honor)
• magna cum laude (with great honor)
• summa cum laude (with highest honor)

HONORIS CAUSA
Honoris causa (for the sake of honor) is used when a university bestows an honorary degree. Honoris causa is written in italics.

OTHER HONORS
• Alpha Beta Kappa (national honors society)
• Special Honors and Rewards Program (SHARP — honors program)

For more information about these honors, refer to a current copy of the JWU catalog for each campus at catalog.jwu.edu.

Hyphens
Hyphens (-) are used between parts of word phrases and word combinations used as adjectives, except the adverb very and all adverbs that end in -ly. Examples include full-time, part-time, on-campus, off-campus, out-of-date and up-to-date when used as adjectives. When these phrases are used as nouns, do not use hyphens.

She is a full-time student and she also works part time.
Her passport was woefully out of date, but her up-to-date driver’s license saved the day.

JWU offers professionally focused programs.

In accordance with Webster’s New World College Dictionary, most words prefixed by “un,” “non,” and “re” require no hyphen. See the dictionary for exceptions. The same is true of the suffix “wide.” Below are some common examples.

non-nonprofit
noncompliance nonissue
rereentry reestablish
reinvent un-unprofessional unreliable
unconventional
-wide universitywide
statewide

Hyphens are also used in numbers that are not inclusive, such as telephone and social security numbers.

See the Numbers section for more information.

Italics
Familiar and anglicized foreign words and phrases (e.g., alma mater, boutique, cum laude, debris) do not need to be italicized.

Less mainstream foreign words should be italicized.

• honoris causa, faux pas, pro forma, tête-à-tête

Names of magazines, newspapers and ships are italicized.
AP Style References, Grammar and JWU Exceptions (continued)

JWU

When referring to the university, spell out the entire name on first reference (Johnson & Wales University). Subsequent references should be Johnson & Wales or JWU (not J&W or J&W University).

Johnson & Wales University was founded in 1914 as a business school. JWU offers accredited degrees in arts and sciences, business, culinary arts, design and engineering, education, health and wellness, hospitality, nutrition and physician assistant studies.

It is pronounced as J-Woo.

JWU Magazine

Refer to the university magazine as JWU Magazine, with “JWU” in all caps, the word “Magazine” capitalized, and the entire name italicized.

Login, Logout

Use “login” and “logout.” Do not use “logon” and “logoff.” Use “login” and “logout” as one word in noun or adjective form, but two words in verb form.

I enter my login name when I log in to my computer.

Names

When referencing a building or space, do not add “the” before the name unless “The” is part of the formal title.

The plaque was unveiled at Coors Family Commons. Students were asked to gather outside The Yena Center for a group photograph.

See the Department Names section of the Glossary for formal names of departments and offices.

The numbers one through nine are spelled out; 10 and beyond are represented by numerals. The exception is for ages, percentages and recipes, where only numerals are used.

Spell out first through ninth when they indicate sequence in time or location:

- first base, the First Amendment; he was the first in line.

Use 1st, 2nd, 3rd, when the sequence is assigned in forming names:

- The 1st Annual High School Recipe Contest; 1st Sgt.; 2nd Fleet.

Use a comma or commas with numbers that have four or more digits:

- 1,500; 25,000; 327,980.

Very large numbers should be expressed with a figure and word:

- 450 million.

Do not begin a sentence with numerals. Spell out the number.

Twenty-five students participated in the book drive.

Headlines feature all numbers as numerals.

- 7 JWU Students Awarded Top Honors

AGES

Always use figures when giving ages, unless the figure starts the sentence. Use hyphens for ages expressed as adjectives before a noun or as substitutes for a noun.

- The sophomore student is 19 years old. She has a younger sister who won a cooking competition for 8-year-olds.

FRACTIONS

Fractions of amounts less than one are spelled out when used in a sentence. Numbers in spelled fractions are separated by a hyphen:

- two-thirds, one-half, three-fifths.

Use numerals for precise amounts greater than one: 3½.

MONETARY AMOUNTS

Use these examples when writing monetary amounts:

- 5 cents, $1.05, $650,000, $2.45 million

PAGE NUMBERS

Use figures and capitalize “page” when used with a figure:

- Page 1, Page 250, Page 300

PERCENT

Use figures: 1%, 4 percentage points

When paired with a numeral, use the % sign, with no space, in most cases.

- JWU students take approximately 33% of all their credits in arts and sciences.

In casual uses, use words rather than figures and numbers.

- She said he has a zero percent chance of winning.

Use decimals, not fractions, in percentages. For amounts less than 1%, precede the decimal with a zero.

- Her mortgage rate is 4.5%. The cost of living rose 0.6%.

See the Percent section of Common Word Mistakes for more information.

PHONE NUMBERS

Use hyphens between the area code, the first three digits and the last four digits: 401-598-5555. The country code “011” should precede the area code when communicating with an international audience only. Toll-free numbers require “1” in all instances.

Years are the lone exception to the general rule that a figure is not used to start a sentence.

- 2014 marked JWU’s 100th birthday.

See the Dates section for more information.
Orientation
Orientation is lowercased unless used as an official and full title, and then only on first reference.

Her daughter will be attending Johnson & Wales University’s 2018 Orientation.

She will learn more about the university during orientation.

Parentheses
If the information contained in the parentheses is not a complete sentence, put the period outside of the closed parenthesis.

The professor is an expert in oenology (the study of wines).

If the information contained in the parentheses is a complete sentence, the period is placed inside the parenthesis directly after the last word.

The professor is a graduate of Johnson & Wales University. (She was a member of the Class of 1970.)

Periods
Only put one space after a period at the end of a sentence.

Plus signs
Do not use a plus sign (+) in place of the word “and.”

Quotation Marks
The basic guidelines for open-quote (‘) and close-quote marks (‘) are

DIRECT QUOTES
For direct quotes, use quotation marks to surround the exact words of a speaker or writer when written in text.

“I don’t mind staying late,” he said, “because I have a lot of work to do.”

If the text in the quotations is a full sentence, capitalize the first word.

“I’m sure my grade point average this term will be above 3.5,” she said.

The teacher said, “A penny saved is a penny earned.”

When the quote is not a full sentence, and interrupts a sentence, the first word is not capitalized.

When she told me about the class, she said it is “harder than the other classes I have this term.”

RUNNING QUOTES
If a full paragraph of quoted material is followed by a paragraph that continues the quote, do not put close-quote marks at the end of the first paragraph. Do, however, put open-quote marks at the start of the second paragraph. Continue in this manner for any succeeding paragraphs, using close-quote marks only at the very end of the quoted material.

“We all know that truth is stranger than fiction,” Norbert said. “But that doesn’t mean truth always makes better copy.

“In the grand scheme of things,” he added, “nothing holds the public’s attention longer than bad news on a regular basis, whether it’s true or false.”

Dialogues or Conversation
Each person’s words, no matter how brief, are placed in a separate paragraph, with quotation marks at the beginning and end of the individual’s speech.

“Will you go?”
“Yes.”
“When?”
“Thursday.”

Question and Answer
Quotation marks are not required in text that identifies questions and answers by “Q” and “A.”

Q: What year do you expect to graduate?
A: I should be able to graduate in 2019.

Recipes
When writing out a recipe, spell out the measurement after the numeric amount: teaspoon, tablespoon, cup, etc. Use numerals in all recipes.

Unless the recipe is for a large quantity of food, whenever possible convert ounces and pounds to teaspoons, tablespoons and cups to make recipes more user-friendly.

Do not use the term “each” when listing measurements.

For a recipe serving four people, 1 each steak, 6 oz., should be listed as 4 6-ounce steaks.

Temperature should be recorded in degrees Fahrenheit: 300°F

When explaining method of preparation, make each step a separate line.

The following recipe is an example of proper format.

Duck a l’Orange

Ingredients
1 duckling (4 pound average)
salt and pepper, to taste
1 cup stock (Duck is preferable but chicken stock may be substituted.)
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon champagne vinegar
⅛ cup brandy
juice of ½ lemon
2 tablespoons butter
3 oranges peeled and segmented, membrane removed ½ cup orange zest, finely julienned

Method
Season the duck well with salt and pepper inside and out. Roast the duck at 400°F for 15 minutes until browned. Reduce the heat to 300°F and cook until done, approximately 1½ hours. The meat should be tender and the leg joint should separate easily at the thigh.

Remove the duck. Keep it in a warm place, and allow to rest while you prepare the sauce.
Degrease the roasting pan. Place the pan on the stove and deglaze with the stock. Melt the sugar and the vinegar together in a saucepan until lightly caramelized. Remove the sugar from the stove and add brandy. Add stock and drippings to the saucepan, and reduce for approximately 10 minutes. Skim, and degrease the sauce, and stir in the butter. Blanch the orange zest, and add to the sauce at the time of service along with the orange segments.

Residence Hall
“Residence hall” is the term used to describe the buildings where students reside. Do not use the word “dormitory” or “dorm.”

Seasons
Fall, winter, spring and summer terms are always lowercase unless they are used as a title.

John will enroll at JWU during the summer term.
Mary is a Fall 2018 term graduate of JWU.

Slashes
Instead of a slash (/), use a hyphen or the word “and” or “or” whenever possible.

Jennifer Brouillard is senior writer-editor in University Marketing.

Many alumni become chef-owners of renowned restaurants.

Slashes may be used to indicate alternatives (and/or) and alternative word forms or spellings (Hercules/Heracles).

State and Postal Abbreviations
Spell out state names in body copy. In headings, subheads and lists/tables, abbreviate the name of a state in AP Stylebook format, including periods as opposed to postal abbreviation (in parentheses). Use the postal abbreviation only when the state is part of a mailing address, and followed by a ZIP code.

The following states are not abbreviated in print. Their postal abbreviations are in parenthesis: Alaska (AK), Hawaii (HI), Idaho (ID), Iowa (IA), Maine (ME), Ohio (OH), Texas (TX), Utah (UT).

Johnson & Wales University’s first and oldest campus is in Rhode Island. The university also has campuses in North Miami, Florida; Denver, Colorado; and Charlotte, North Carolina. The university’s official mailing address is 8 Abbott Park Place, Providence, RI 02903.

When writing out a city and state, always add the state following a city. Do not follow the AP dateline rule of using certain cities alone (not followed by the state they are in).

They/them/their is acceptable in limited cases as a singular and/or gender-neutral pronoun, when alternative wording is overly awkward or clumsy. However, rewording usually is possible and always is preferable. Clarity is a top priority; gender-neutral use of a singular “they” is unfamiliar to many readers. Do not use other gender-neutral pronouns such as xe or ze.

Time
Use numerals plus a.m. or p.m.

The workshop will begin at 9 a.m. and end at noon.

“Noon” and “midnight” are to be used in place of 12; both are lowercase.

Only use a colon when minutes follow the hour.

11 a.m., 1 p.m., 3:30 p.m.

One-en dashes (–) are used between dates, times and scores. There are no spaces used around the dash.

The evening courses run from 6–9 p.m.

In print, the designations a.m. and p.m. are lowercased with periods.

When writing the time online, use 8am, 8:30am (no spaces between the numeral and the letters or between the letters).
Titles

COMPOSITION TITLES

Put quotation marks around the titles of books, blogs, computer games, movies, operas, plays, songs, television programs, lectures, speeches and works of art.

Do not put quotation marks around books that are primarily catalogs or reference material. This includes almanacs, directories, dictionaries, encyclopedias, handbooks and similar publications.

Do not use quotation marks around software titles such as WordPerfect or Windows.

Italicize the names of magazines, newspapers and ships.

ABBREVIATIONS

The abbreviations of titles such as Jr. and Sr. after a name are not preceded by a comma.

John Hazen White Jr.

The word “corporation” is abbreviated in a title.

American Broadcasting Corp.

The words “incorporated” and “limited” are abbreviated and capitalized as “Inc.” and “Ltd.” when used as part of a corporate name. They are not separated by commas.

Taco Inc.; Hitachi Ltd.

ACADEMIC AND PROFESSIONAL TITLES

A title is only capitalized when it directly precedes a name or when it is used in a mailing address. This title is not separated by a comma.

The chair of the University Curriculum Committee is Professor Terry Novak.

The keynote speaker for the evening was Chancellor Emeritus John Bowen.

(Never use Chancellor Emeritus Dr. John Bowen.)

When a title comes before a name and is followed by a comma, or is listed after a name, it is used in lowercase.

Deborah Doonan, associate professor of accountancy, has office hours on Wednesday afternoons.

As the university’s chancellor, Mim L. Runey, L.P.D., represents the entire administration.

Titles are used before a name and are capitalized only on first reference. Subsequent references to the individual should be by last name only.

Awards went to Chef Robert Billings. Billings was praised for his culinary skills.

If a title contains words such as senior, associate or assistant, do not abbreviate it.

Doug Whiting is senior vice president of communications at Johnson & Wales University.

The exception is when the title is included in a sentence or paragraph that includes several names and their corresponding titles. Abbreviate them in such a case.

Members of the committee included Meldi Moutahir, sr. director of international partnerships; Dameian Slocum, assoc. dean for student services; and Elizabeth Allsworth, asst. director of study abroad.

When writing the full title and department name of an individual, use the word “of” between title and department instead of a comma.

Al Seitz, director of admissions

Diane D’Ambra, vice president of human resources

Sheri Young, dean of experiential education & career services

Use a comma between the title and the campus name, when appropriate.

Rob Clemens, executive director of operations, Denver Campus

CEO

CEO is acceptable in all references for chief executive officer. Use chief financial officer and chief operating officer on first reference, and CFO and COO thereafter. Always spell out lesser-known “C-level” positions like chief administrative officer or chief risk officer.

Chef

Terms like “chef-owner” are hyphenated; they do not contain slashes and they follow the rules for capitalization listed under Academic and Professional Titles.

There are no chef-instructors at the university; the College of Culinary Arts employs chefs who are within the ranks of instructor or professor.

Chefs who are instructors or professors should be noted as chefs first (preferably before the name), as it is the most pertinent information. The secondary title should be worked into the text.

Chef Smith, an assistant professor within the College of Culinary Arts, thanked the Editorial Style Guide Committee for recognizing both of his titles.

Doctor

See the Academic Degrees section.

Professor

Do not abbreviate “professor.” It should always be spelled out.

DEPARTMENTS AND OFFICES

Departments and offices are capitalized when written in full, formal titles (with the acronym in parenthesis following it, when appropriate). On first use, the titles are always written in full, formal titles.

Advancement & University Relations is located at The Yena Center. Maureen Dumas, Ed.D., vice president of advancement & university relations, oversees fundraising.
The term “department” is only used when the word is part of its official title.

The Department of Sports, Entertainment, Event Management is working with Athletics to promote the event.
Not: Athletics department

See the Department Names section of the Glossary for formal names of departments and offices.

Visit the Academic Directory of the catalog for formal names of academic departments.

FORMER
Use the word “former” before someone’s title if they are retired.

James H. Hance Jr., chair of JWU’s Board of Trustees, is the former vice chairman and chief financial officer of the Bank of America Corp. in Charlotte, North Carolina.

MODIFIERS
Lowercase a modifier such as “department” in department Chair Karen Silva. It is in reference to the department, not Silva’s title.

Trademark and Registered Mark
When listing a trademarked company or product, apply ™ or ® on first reference only.

University
University is only capitalized when it is used within the full name of the university or within the full name of a department, office or other entity.

In her role as university registrar, Tammy Harrigan meets with University Communications to discuss upcoming curriculum changes.

Universitywide
Universitywide (like campuswide and systemwide) is one word with no hyphen. It is not capitalized.

URL (JWU EXCEPTION)
When noting a URL (the address of a web page), do not include the “http://” or the “www.”

The university’s website is jwu.edu.

Web Terms (JWU EXCEPTION)
AP standards are observed for web terms when used in print.

Distinguished Visitor Programs
North Miami, Denver and Charlotte Campuses

The Distinguished Visitor Program draws top professionals from the fields of arts and sciences, business, culinary arts, design and engineering, education, health and wellness, hospitality, nutrition and physician assistant studies to share their knowledge with JWU students. Programs include:

- DVP: Distinguished Visiting Professor
- DVC: Distinguished Visiting Chef
- DVA: Distinguished Visiting Author
- DVL: Distinguished Visiting Lecturer
- DVF: Distinguished Visiting Faculty

The Charlotte Campus College of Business DVPs are referred to specifically as PricewaterhouseCoopers Distinguished Visiting Professor.

The Providence Campus version of this program is College Guest Lecturers.

Early Action Admission

This non-binding application program allows applicants to find out as early as mid-November if they’ve been accepted to the university. Applicants will also receive a scholarship notification (if applicable) and can begin working with a financial adviser that much sooner.

Early Enrollment Program

The Early Enrollment Program (EEP) allows high school seniors to take JWU college courses while simultaneously completing their high school senior-year requirements.

Experiential Education & Career Services

Experiential Education & Career Services provides students with expert advising, an array of career services, and strategic partnerships with employers, faculty and staff. The department has three areas of focus: Career Services, Experiential Education and Employer Relations.

Experiential Education

Experiential Education is any type of experience-based learning that includes internships, directed experiential education (DEE) programs, course-embedded experiential education (CEE) programs, study abroad, etc.

Faculty Adviser

Designated faculty serve as academic advisers during internship and build strong academic plans relevant to each student’s career aspirations and abilities.

---

Faculty Experts

The university offers a comprehensive website for journalists, writers and media contacts to use when seeking an expert academic source: jwu.edu/facultyexperts.

---

Faculty Inservice

Faculty Inservice refers to training and professional development required each year of all full-time faculty members as part of their contract. Inservice is one word with no hyphen.
Freshman Advanced Study Track (FAST)
High schools meeting the FAST program requirements are eligible to recommend their students to take a practical exam where they can receive a total of nine quarter credits towards their JWU degree.

FOCUS 2022
FOCUS 2022 is the university’s current strategic plan launched in March 2018. The name is bolded in all references. Through FOCUS 2022, JWU is committed to introducing innovative interdisciplinary programs that lead to high growth careers and providing students with an education characterized by academic integrity and practical experiences. Key pillars of the plan include academic life, students, foundation and branch campuses. For more information, visit jwu.edu/about-jwu/strategic-plan.

Garnish Your Degree
Garnish Your Degree is a program for anyone who has earned a bachelor’s degree in any field and is planning to enter the food service field. The program is offered with options in either baking and pastry arts or culinary arts.

Grad Planning System
Grad Planning System (GPS, formerly DegreeWorks) is a web-based, degree audit program and academic advisement tool that helps students understand the academic requirements for the degree they are pursuing. Courses taken are organized to show which requirements have been fulfilled and which have not been.

In writing, Grad Planning System (GPS) should be referred to in full upon first reference and as GPS upon subsequent references. At no point should GPS be placed within quotation marks.

Guiding Principles
In support of our mission and recognizing the importance of preserving our unique student-centered culture, we will be guided by the following principles:
- Undertake continuous improvement and planning for a sustainable future.
- Foster an evidence-based teaching and learning environment.
- Support faculty scholarship to advance our status as a teaching and learning institution.
- Maximize student potential by enriching our academic programs with experiential and work-integrated learning.
- Value our faculty and staff.
- Embrace diversity for a richly inclusive community.
- Practice ethical citizenship in all aspects of university life.
- Act as a good steward of our resources to support the needs of our students, faculty and staff.

Hold
A hold is placed on a student’s account when a requirement for enrollment has not been fulfilled. Students may be prohibited from registration and/or enrollment until the appropriate holds have been removed and all requirements are met.

Homecoming and Family Weekend
Homecoming and Family Weekend is held in October at the Providence, Denver and Charlotte campuses. Alumni are invited to reconnect with their former classmates on campus, while current JWU student families are invited to participate in a variety of activities and events with their JWU students. In addition, the Denver Campus offers local excursions and tours of the Denver and Rocky Mountain areas.

North Miami Campus
At the North Miami Campus, Family Weekend is held in October, while Homecoming is celebrated at the end of January.

International Baking & Pastry Institute
Within the College of Culinary Arts, this is the official title of the baking and pastry program used throughout the university system.

International School of Mixology®
Providence Campus
The International School of Mixology offers a non-credit certification for bartending and mixology. The program is offered to students who complete the Spirits and Mixology Management class and are able to demonstrate bartending competencies and pass a practical exam.

IPEDS
IPEDS is an acronym for Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System. Verify IPEDS numbers and related statistics with institutional.research@jwu.edu.

Johnson & Wales University is Changing the Way the World Eats®
With eating habits and the food industry evolving rapidly, and with conflicting information circulating about what’s good and not good to eat, Johnson & Wales University is cutting through the clutter to positively impact society’s food decisions, industry choices, and health and well-being. For more information, visit jwu.edu/eathealthy.
JWU Fund
The JWU Fund is the university’s relaunched annual fund. Its goal is to help make a JWU education affordable and accessible while building participation through yearly gifts from alumni, parents, faculty, staff and friends. Within the JWU Fund, donors can designate their gifts to the university or a specific campus. Verbally and in writing, it should be referred to as the JWU Fund.

jwuGOLD
This program connects first-year undergraduate commuter students with a JWU faculty or staff member to positively impact their satisfaction — and ultimately their success and retention at JWU — by adding another layer of support, guidance and encouragement.

jwuLink
This password-protected web portal gives students and faculty access to all Johnson & Wales University resources. It contains quick links to JWU communications, tools, websites and support such as academics, library, career, student life, registration, grades and financial resources. The portal keeps the JWU community informed and connected.

There is no space between “jwu” and “link.” The “j” is always lowercase and the “L” is always uppercase.

Mission
Johnson & Wales University … an exceptional education that inspires professional success and lifelong personal and intellectual growth.

National Student Organizations (NSO)
NSO at JWU includes Business Professionals of America (BPA), Delta Epsilon Chi (DECA), Family Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA), Future Farmers of America (FFA), Health Occupations Students of America (HOSA), Junior Achievement (JA), Phi Beta Lambda (PBL — for Future Business Leaders of America high school graduates), SkillsUSA and Technology Student Association (TSA). Students from these organizations get involved in various competitions, community service and group activities, and are awarded scholarship dollars for their efforts.

New England Commission of Higher Education
The acronym for the New England Commission of Higher Education is NECHE. For details on accreditation, please consult the Fact Sheets.

New Student Orientation
Across all campuses, New Student Orientation is composed of two-day sessions for new students and their family members. It includes informative presentations, small-group discussions and registration assistance. Orientation is the first step of the students’ transition to JWU when they arrive in the fall.

Online Job Database
Top employers post available part-time, summer, internship and full-time jobs for qualified JWU students and graduates. To access employment opportunities, visit link.jwu.edu > jobs & internships > find a job.

Outcomes
Professional Competence
Graduates will demonstrate the knowledge and skills required to succeed in their chosen profession.

Foundation for Lifelong Learning
Graduates will demonstrate the knowledge and skills necessary for lifelong learning, including competence in communication, critical and creative thinking, quantitative and scientific reasoning, and the ability to evaluate, integrate, and apply knowledge from multiple perspectives when making decisions and solving problems.

Global and Community Citizenship
Graduates will demonstrate the necessary skills, including an awareness of ethical responsibility and cultural/global diversity, to live and work collaboratively as contributing members of society.

Outcomes Assessment
Outcome Assessment is the systematic process by which the university pursues continuous improvement of its academic programing through evaluating evidence gathered about student knowledge, skills and behaviors.

Piloting a Course
The term is used for offering a course after it has been approved by the University Curriculum Committee and the Provost Council, but before it is listed in the catalog.

Preview Days
Each campus offers Preview Day programs (formerly Open House) with all departments represented. Students and their families tour the campus with student tour guides and have an opportunity to meet staff or faculty from various departments (that differ slightly at each campus) including Student Academic & Financial Services, Student Involvement & Leadership, Academic Affairs, Athletics and other departments.

Sports, Entertainment, Event — Management (SEEM)
Sports, Entertainment, Event — Management is the name of the bachelor’s degree program in the College of Hospitality Management at all campuses. SEEM is its universitywide acronym.

Special Honors and Rewards Program (SHARP)
SHARP is a universitywide honors program for qualified undergraduate students who want to increase their course load and accelerate their degree completion.

Student Academic Services (SAS)
SAS is a branch of Student Academic & Financial Services that handles academics such as course scheduling, testing, transfer credits, academic records and academic counseling.

Student Academic & Financial Services (SAFS)
SAFS is the collective name for Student Academic Services (SAS) and Student Financial Services (SFS). It services all student academic and financial needs.
Student Financial Services (SFS)
SFS is a branch of Student Academic & Financial Services that handles billing and collections, financial aid and financial planning.

Talent Advancement Program (TAP)
North Miami Campus
Selected first-year students take fewer credits in their first term, receive guidance and support from faculty and staff, and participate in engaging activities with other TAP students. Upon successful completion of the TAP course and their first term with a 2.0 GPA or higher, they transition to a full schedule of classes and are able to graduate on time — all while receiving a $1,000 ($333 per term) annually renewable scholarship.

Term/Semester
JWU undergraduate programs’ academic year is divided into terms. Do not use the word trimester. Graduate programs’ academic year is divided into semesters, with the exception of master’s level graduate education (M.A.T., M.Ed.) which is divided into terms. Undergraduate programs’ academic year will convert to semesters in the fall of 2020.

Term Start
Fall, Winter, Spring and Summer
Term Start is used collectively to refer to all activities and requirements for the start of the specified term.

Term start requirements are the mandatory university requirements that students must satisfy prior to enrollment. In order to be considered officially enrolled in classes at the start of each term, all university term start requirements must be satisfied. Students who fail to fulfill these requirements will have holds placed on their accounts and will be prohibited from entering class or changing their schedules. In some instances, schedules will be deleted and, if applicable, housing assignments will be removed.

An online service, uconnect (all lowercase) allows students who attended the university from 2004 to 2011 to securely access their student records (i.e., grades, payment history, etc.). Current students and students who were in attendance after May 2011 use the university’s web portal, jwuLink.

ulearn
JWU’s online learning platform, ulearn (all lowercase) provides tools and resources to faculty and students and delivers online courses, as well as course management resources to support traditional face-to-face courses.

University Curriculum Committee (UCC)
The University Curriculum Committee reviews all curricula that have been approved at the college level at all campuses. Committee members represent all colleges, key academic departments and campuses. Curricula that are approved at the UCC go forward to the Provost Council for the final approval process.

Visiting Industry Professor (VIP) Series
Providence Campus
This annual high-profile speaker series features distinguished individuals who share JWU’s mission, quest for innovation, and entrepreneurial spirit. Developed as an interdisciplinary approach to invited guests on campus, the event is hosted collaboratively with college deans, including the selection of VIPs who are thought leaders in their fields. This approach enriches the student experience and helps JWU achieve a FOCUS 2022 goal to encourage student exploration of careers in a variety of industries and professions.

Wildcat Welcome
Wildcat Welcome begins the weekend prior to Fall Term Start, complementing the summer orientation experience for new students. This JWU tradition offers a variety of fun and entertaining activities, services and programs geared to connecting new and returning students to campus, providing opportunities to make new friends, and helping students explore exciting ways to adjust to college life in and out of the classroom.

Wildcat Weekend
Wildcat Weekend is a visitor program for prospective students. This program includes campus tours and one-on-one meetings with faculty members. It can also include overnight accommodations. A variety of activities are offered to prospective students and up to three family members. Students who live less than a six-hour drive from campus select the drive-in option and pay the regular program fee. Students who live more than a six-hour drive from campus select the fly-in option and pay for airfare in addition to the regular program fee. Flights are booked by the university.

> She is among the group of 20 students to go on the trip to Italy.

Between you and I/me

Use “between you and me.”

Bring/Take

bring (v.) indicates movement toward the speaker

> Bring that book to me.

take (v.) indicates movement away from the speaker

> Take that book with you when you go.

> Not: I’ll bring it with me.

Can/May

can (v.) to be able

> I can leap tall buildings in a single bound.

may (v.) to be permitted

> The professor said I may skip class if I get the notes from Bob.

> May I see your notes?
Common Word Mistakes (continued)

Capitol/Capital

capitol (n.) a building that houses a legislative body capital (n.) a city or town that is the official seat of government in a state or nation

Providence is the capital city of Rhode Island.

(n.) wealth, as money or property, owned, used, or accumulated in business by an individual, partnership or corporation
(n.) the funds contributed to a business by the owners or stockholders
(n.) capitalists as a group or class
(n.) a capital letter
(adj.) first and foremost
   It was a decision of capital importance.
(adj.) very serious
   He made a capital error.
(adj.) involving death or calling for the death penalty
   He committed a capital crime.

Catalog

Catalog is the correct spelling; catalogue is not correct.

Classwork/Coursework

Classwork and coursework are one word.

Common/Mutual

common (adj.) shared
   Two communities had a common purpose.
mutual (adj.) reciprocal
   Necessary to any friendship is mutual respect.
   “We have a friend in common.”
   Not: “We have a mutual friend.”

Complement/Compliment

complement (n.) something that completes, makes up a whole, or brings to perfection
   The wine was a complement to the wonderful dinner.
compliment (n.) an expression of courtesy or praise
   She paid him a great compliment for his decorating work.

Compose/Comprise

compose (vt.) to form in combination; make up; constitute
   The United States is composed of 50 states.
comprise (v.) consists of or includes
   A totally new idea is comprised in this paper.
   The whole comprises its parts.

Continuous/Continual continuous (adj.) without interruption

   The car alarm’s continuous screeching lasted for three hours.
continual (adj.) recurrent; stopping and starting
   The continual bursts of lightning scared the dog.

Could of, would of

Use “could have,” “would have.” This problem may have started by the similar sound of “could’ve” and “would’ve,” but on paper, the “of” in place of the verb is incorrect.

Curriculum vitae (singular); curricula vitae (plural)

Cyberlaw

Cyberlaw is one word with no hyphen.

Double negatives

She didn’t come. Not: She didn’t never come.
He wanted none. Not: He didn’t want none.

Download

Download is one word in all instances and lowercase unless it begins a sentence. It is only used as a verb, not a noun.
   Download the brochure.
   Not: Your download is ready.

Due to

Don’t use “due to” as a substitute for “because of” or as a prepositional phrase.
   Because of hazardous weather, the university is closed.
   Avoid beginning a sentence with “due to” and you will probably be safe.
   His tardiness was due to traffic.
   Not: Due to traffic, he was tardy.

e.g./i.e.

The abbreviation e.g. means “for example”; i.e. means “that is” or “in other words.”
   University Communications provides executive communication for university leaders (e.g., speeches and speaking points, trustee and board related communications and projects).
   We hope you read the Editorial Style Guide (i.e., we hope you follow the rules in the Editorial Style Guide).

Emeritus/Emerita

Place emeritus (or emerita for feminine) after the formal title.

- Chancellor Emeritus John Bowen
- John Bowen, chancellor emeritus
- Professor Emerita Martha Smith
- Martha Smith, professor emerita

Emigrate/Immigrate

- emigrate (v.) to move out of a country
  - My family emigrated from Poland.
- immigrate (v.) to move into a country
  - My family immigrated to America.

Eminent/Imminent/Immanent

- eminent (adj.) standing out; famous
  - The eminent philosopher has millions of followers.
- imminent (adj.) happening soon
  - The election is imminent.
- immanent (adj.) inherent; existing only within consciousness
  - Her immanent faith was revealed in all her actions.

Ensure/Insure/Assure

- ensure (v.) to make sure or certain; to guarantee
  - Steps were taken to ensure accuracy.
- insure (vt.) to provide or obtain insurance on or for
  - The policy insures her life.
- assure (v.) to state with confidence; to make someone confident of something
  - She assured us the statement was accurate.

Everybody/Everyone

"Everybody" and "everyone" take singular verbs. However, "they" or "their" are both acceptable second references.

- Everyone is ecstatic to receive their diplomas.

Ex-officio

Ex-officio is spelled with a hyphen.

Farther/Further

- farther (adj., adv.) at a greater distance; more distant
  - I can't walk any farther.
  - Alabama is farther away than Miami.
- further (adj., adv.) to a greater extent
  - I can't work on this any further.
  - Further discussion is unnecessary.

Fewer/Less

- fewer (adj.) refers to things that can be measured or counted
  - There are fewer chocolates in the box today than yesterday.
- less (adj.) refers to things that can't have an exact quantity
  - The beginner class is less important than the intermediate class.

Fiancé/Fiancée

- fiancé (n.) a man engaged to be married
- fiancée (n.) a woman engaged to be married

Former/Latter

- former (n.) in a list of two items, the first one
- latter (n.) in a list of two items, the second one
  - I went to Paris and Rome; I bought clothes in the former and shoes in the latter.

Good/Well

- good (adj.) positive or desirable in nature
  - She has good intentions; her intentions are good.
- well (adv.) in a good or proper manner
  - She slept well.
  - (adj.) in satisfactory condition
  - All is well.

Had/Ought

"Had" and "ought" do not mean the same thing.

- She had to go. She ought to go.
- Not: She had ought to go.

In regards to Use "regarding" or "in regard to."

In the event that

Use "if."
Common Word Mistakes (continued)

Implicit/Imply/Infer

implicit (adj.) implied or hinted at

There was a threat implicit in his request.

imply (v.) to hint or express indirectly

Glaring at me, she implied that I was in big trouble.

infer (v.) to draw a conclusion or make a deduction

I infer from your expression that you are upset.

By standing by the door, I implied that it was time for him to leave.

You can draw an inference from someone else’s implication, not vice versa.

The speaker implies and the listener infers.

Incredible/Incredulous

incredible (adj.) unbelievable

His story of seeing an alien was incredible.

incredulous (adj.) unbelieving

I was incredulous when I heard his story about the alien.

Ingenious/Ingenuous

ingenious (adj.) clever

He wrote an ingenious piece of software.

ingenuous (adj.) open; not crafty

We can hardly suspect her of conspiracy; her manner is so ingenuous.

Inservice

Inservice is one word with no hyphen.

Its/It’s

its (ownership pronoun) use to indicate possession or ownership

The dog was wagging its tail.

it’s (contraction) shortened version of “it is”

The purse is not hers; it’s one of my sister’s purses.

Libel/Slander

libel (n., v.) written statement of defamation; to defame

When it printed a story claiming that she was drunk and disorderly, Carol Burnett sued The National Enquirer for libel.

slander (n., v.) spoken statement of defamation; to defame

When he gave a speech in which he distorted his opponent’s record, the candidate exposed himself to charges of slander.

Lie/Lay

lie (v.) to rest or recline

I need to lie down.

The books are lying on the floor.

The principal parts for lie are: lie, lay, lying, lain.

lay (v.) to put down, to place

The principal parts for lay are lay, laid and laying.

He will lay himself on a bed of nails.

He laid the book on the floor.

Ask yourself, “Lay what?” In the sentences above, the answer would be the book, and himself. If there is no answer, use lie. Strategy number two: If you can substitute put, use lay. Otherwise use lie.

Like/As/Such As

Like (adj.) is used to make a comparison.

He looks like me.

She acts like the president.

Like Bob, Susan wears red socks.

Like should be followed only by a noun or a noun phrase. It is never used as a conjunction.

As or as if (conjunctions) should be used if your comparison involves action.

His sports car is faster than his station wagon, as it should be.

Ralph ran as if his life depended on it.

In both cases, the “as” or “as if” is a conjunction that joins the two clauses.

Such as means for example.

For breakfast he cooked local specialties such as grits and red-eye gravy.

More than/Over

More than is used with numbers.

Their salaries went up more than $50 per pay period.

Over refers to spatial relationships.

The plane flew over the city.

None is/None are

None is an indefinite pronoun, usually treated as plural, unless you want to emphasize the individual parts, as in “not one single thing” or “no one single person.” When in doubt, go with the plural.

Nonprofit

Nonprofit is one word with no hyphen.
Common Word Mistakes (continued)

Oral/Verbal

Oral is spoken.

The students were required to give an oral presentation to their class.

Verbal refers to language and words. It can be spoken and/or written.

Her promise to the professor to finish the assignment was a verbal agreement.

People/Patrons

Use persons when you want to emphasize the individuals, and people when you are speaking about an undifferentiated group.

I was lost in a crowd of people.

I recommend that three persons receive grants.

Percent/Percentage/Percentage Points

Use figures: 1%, 4 percentage points

When paired with a numeral, use the % sign, with no space, in most cases.

JWU students take approximately 33% of all their credits in arts and sciences.

In casual uses, use words rather than figures and numbers.

She said he has a zero percent chance of winning.

Use decimals, not fractions, in percentages. For amounts less than 1%, precede the decimal with a zero.

Her mortgage rate is 4.5%. The cost of living rose 0.6%.

When not paired with a number, use percentage rather than percent.

The percentage of people agreeing is small.

Be careful not to confuse percent with percentage point. A change from 10% to 13% is a rise of 3 percentage points. This is not equal to a 3% change; rather, it’s a 30% increase.

Constructions with the % sign take a singular verb when standing alone or when a singular word follows an “of” construction.

The teacher said 60% was a failing grade.

He said 50% of the membership was there.

It takes a plural verb when a plural word follows an “of” construction.

He said 50% of the members were there.

Principal/Principle

principal (adj.) most important

His principal objective is to revive the economy.

(n.) one who holds a presiding rank, especially the head of a school.

The principal ordered me to stay after school.

principle (n.) a doctrine; a moral

His actions show he has high principles.

Regarding

Regarding can be used to replace “in regards to,” “with regard,” and “as regards.”

Regardless/Irregardless

Use “regardless.” There is no such word as “irregardless.”

Respectfully/Respectively

respectfully (adj.) showing respect

The girl behaved respectfully toward her grandmother.

respectively (adj.) in the given order

Bob and Harry were an accountant and a lawyer, respectively.

Shall/Will

shall (aux. v.) use when there is implied intention

I shall return!

Not: It shall be warm at the beach.

Also use “shall” for asking questions in the first person (I or we).

Shall we dance? Shall I call you?

will (aux. v.) to intend to

I will go to the grocery store tomorrow.

Startup

Startup is one word with no hyphen.

That/Which

that (conj.) introduces an essential clause that defines the entity being discussed

I like to do needlework that has intricate designs.

which (pron.) introduce a nonessential clause that gives additional information about a previously identified entity

The introductory German course, which the school initiated only last fall, has been cancelled.

Their/There

their (ownership pron.)

This is their new red car.

there (adv., n., adj.) indicates location; can also be used as an expletive

She is over there, across the street.

There! I finished cleaning the house.

To/Too

to (prep.) indicates direction
    I went to the dentist.
too (adv.) means “as well”
    I went to the dentist, too.

Top-Notch

Top-notch is spelled with a hyphen. It’s often used to describe our culinary arts and baking & pastry arts labs in place of “world-class”, which is no longer used as a JWU descriptor.

Toward/Towards

Use “toward.”

Who/Whom

who (pron.) the subject of a verb whom (pron.) the object of a verb, preposition or infinitive “Whom” is never the subject of a verb. If you are unsure use “she” or “her.” If “she” fits, use “who.” If “her” fits, use “whom.” “Who” is a subject pronoun; “whom” is an object pronoun.
    Mary wondered who was ringing her doorbell.
    (“Who” is the subject of “was ringing.”)
    Jane was not sure whom she could trust with her secret.
    (“Jane” is the subject of “trust”; “whom” is the object of “trust.”)

Your/You’re

your (ownership pron.) indicates possession or ownership
    Your car needs an oil change.
you’re (contraction) shortened versions of “you are”
    You’re scheduled to attend the meeting this afternoon.

Web Writing Tips

Digital Communications is responsible for web writing and visuals, and is the core team for the centralized website process. This ensures standards and style are consistent and strong. Examples that highlight rule use in this guide are noted by italics. Avoid using italics online, however, unless noting reference titles.

Web visitors read for information. They find it by scanning a web page for relevant items. When writing for the web, aim for a concise style that uses clear and simple language.

Make your content easy to scan: Use short paragraphs broken up by visuals, subheads and pull quotes.

Concision is key: Craft sentences for maximum punch, removing extraneous words as you go. Top-load crucial information.

Pare down your writing to the essentials:
- key information (who, what, when, where, why and how) in the first few sentences
- main points in short paragraphs of two-to-three simple sentences
- bulleted lists within paragraphs to elaborate on points
- familiar, everyday words in easily understood sentences
- direct, professional language
- active (rather than passive) voice

Avoid
- JWU jargon (i.e., undefined abbreviations and acronyms)
- formal language
- welcome text (i.e., introductory text)
- instructions on how to use site
- idioms, metaphors and puns that make sense in only one language or culture

Make sure all content on every page has been proofread before it is published.

Do not use this as link text. Instead, use keywords or key phrases as the link itself.

Review the learning guide (40K PDF) for details.
Not: To get the learning guide, click here.

Email

Don’t spell out email addresses; list as either the word “email” or the individual’s department name.

Please contact George Rezendes, director of institutional research, 401-598-2029.
Not: Please contact George Rezendes, director of institutional research, by email: george.rezendes@jwu.edu or by phone: 401-598-2029.
Not: Please contact George Rezendes, director of institutional research, at george.rezendes@jwu.edu or 401-598-2029.

Hyperlinks

Use short descriptions of the link’s target content, clarifying what readers are being asked to view. Link only the relevant phrase in a sentence, not the entire sentence.

Use of the on-campus Computer Center is available to all students.
Not: Contact the Athletics Office at 401-598-4578 or visit their website.

PDFs should always open in the same browser window.

When linking to JWU sites, only open in a new window if the target site has a vastly different user experience/look-and-feel from jwu.edu, such as catalog.jwu.edu and link.jwu.edu. (As JWU web properties are frequently undergoing redesign, always check and assess a link before including it.)

Here’s what that code looks like:

```
JWU Providence College of Culinary Arts

PDFs or Word Documents

List the file type and size for all posted files or documents. JWU files or documents should open in the same browser window.

Aerobics Schedule (600K PDF)
Hall of Fame Nomination Form (25K Word)

Quotes — Smart (”) vs. Dumb (”)

“Smart” quotes are curved, while “dumb” quotes are straight and typically should only be used to denote measurements.

Be consistent about smart quote usage on the web. Typically, if you write a piece in Word and use plain text to paste in your content, smart quotes will be preserved.

When using a quote in a headline, only use single quotes.

Web Formatting Tips

Headlines
Write clear, direct headlines — keep to a single line if possible.

JWU Cup: Women’s Basketball Defeats Denver, 89–60

Not: Women’s Basketball Drops 89–60 Decision Against JWU Denver at JWU Cup

Copy
Keep it short. Roughly:
- Headings/Headlines: 4–8 words
- Subheads: 1–5 words
- Sentences: 1–20 words
- Paragraphs: 1–7 sentences
- Documents: 300–500 words

Body Text
Flush left, not justified or centered.

Plain Text
Always use the “paste plain text” option when importing text from Word, Notepad or another program.

Emphasis
Be judicious when using bold, italics or exclamation points to add emphasis to a word or phrase. Never use underlines or all caps to add emphasis.

Familiar and anglicized foreign words and phrases do not need to be italicized: alma mater, boutique, cum laude, debris

Less mainstream foreign words should be italicized: honoris causa, faux pas, pro forma, tête-à-tête

Names of magazines, newspapers and ships are italicized.

Image Titles, Alt Text and Title Tags (AKA the Super Friends of Image Optimization)

1) Give every image a descriptive filename.
Upload images with a concise title that describes the image. The file naming conventions should be consistent — create a system that works for you. Do not use spaces in your file name. (Underscores are acceptable, however.)

News_PVDWomensHistoryMonth_Panelists_900x450.jpg
Blog_PVDCareerFair_MomofukuTable_1280x640
Athletics_PMXCountryTeamECACChampionship2012.jpg
SiteLocation_JWUCampusSubject_PhotoSize.jpg

2) Add alt tag.
The alt tag is used by screen readers, so your title should be descriptive and impart concrete information about what the image is about. Avoid abbreviations or symbols that the screen reader won’t understand.

alt= "Jenna Juron, JWU Women’s Basketball point guard"

3) Add title tag.
The title text should be a natural language description of the image — roughly one tweet (140–150 characters). This is the text you will see if you mouse over the image.

title="JWU Wildcat Jenna Juron Scores 1000th Career Point"
```

4) Combine steps 1–3.
```
<img src="WBballJuronAlbanyPharmacy2013.jpg" alt= "Jenna Juron, JWU Women’s Basketball point guard" title="JWU Wildcat Jenna Juron Scores 1000th Career Point">
```

Optimizing PDFs

Before you upload or send a PDF file to be uploaded to a JWU website, please follow these steps:

1) Rename the file without spaces, using the following format:

```
JWUDeptFileDescriptionCampusYear.pdf
```

Campus abbreviations should follow this convention:

PVD NMI DEN CLT OL UNIV (for a document that is applicable campuswide)

Only add a year for files that require multi-year archiving, like catalogs or academic calendars. Files that are overwritten from one year to the next, like event brochures, can omit the year.

JWUAdmissWildcatWelcomeBrochurePVD.pdf
JWUPhysicianAssistantAcadCalPVD2016-17.pdf
```

2) Set the PDF properties.
When you open the PDF file, it should automatically open the “Initial View” tab.

If it does not, you will see six tabs in the window: Description, Security, Fonts, Initial View, Custom and Advanced.

Choose “Initial View” and make the following changes:
- Under magnification, select “Fit Page.”
- Under “Window Options,” select “Resize window to initial page.”

Hit OK and save. The PDF is now ready to be placed on a JWU website.
