I, _____ (“Participant”), wish to participate in the Future Food All-Stars Challenge (“Contest”) sponsored by Johnson & Wales University (“JWU”). In consideration for being permitted to submit an application to participate in the Contest, I agree as follows:

1. General Compliance.

A. By submitting an application, each Participant agrees to the following regulations, requirements, and rules (collectively, “Rules”). Further, by submitting an application, each Participant agrees to abide by all JWU decisions and the decisions of the Challenge Panel (defined below), made in their sole discretion, which shall be binding and final. JWU reserves the right in its sole discretion to disqualify any Participant who fails to comply with any Rules.

B. Subject to any governmental approval that may be required, JWU reserves the right to, without prior notice and at any time, terminate the Contest, in whole or in part, or modify the Contest in any way, should any factor interfere with its proper conduct as contemplated by these Rules as determined by JWU in its sole discretion or in the event of any act, occurrence, or reason that JWU believes would corrupt the administration, fairness, or integrity of the Contest.

2. Logistics of Submitting an Application.

A. JWU will accept applications beginning through the application deadline of April 22, 2022, at 5:00 PM ET.

B. Participants may access the application and submit the application here:

allstars@jwu.edu

C. To participate in the Contest, Participants must complete the applications completely and truthfully, with no misleading statements or omissions.

3. Eligibility.

A. Participants may enter individually or as a team, but not both. There is a limit of one application per Participant. Team size is limited to no more than four Participants. Participants are encouraged to compose multidisciplinary teams that include students from multiple Colleges of JWU.

B. All Participants must be enrolled (i) as a full-time undergraduate or graduate student in good standing at JWU (ii) at its Providence or Charlotte campus within this current academic year.

C. Only early-stage business ventures (i.e., those with no significant earned revenue to date, as determined by JWU in its sole discretion) or innovative business, product or service ideas that have not yet been brought to market (as determined by JWU in its sole discretion) are eligible to be entered.

4. Selecting Winners.

A. A “Challenge Panel” will review all applications. The Challenge Panel shall include:

1. The Food Entrepreneur in Residence and his/her professional associates
2. The JWU Provost or his/her designated representative
3. The Dean of the College of Food Innovation and Technology (CFIT) or his/her designated representative
4. A faculty member representative from the JWU College of Business
5. A department chair from any one of the CFIT academic departments

B. Based on the Challenge Panel’s review of all application materials, the Challenge Panel will select up to 10 “top” teams, provided that the Challenge Panel may select any number greater than one and fewer than 10 “top” teams.

1. Timing: The Challenge Panel will select the top teams by May 3, 2022.
2. Criteria: The Challenge Panel will select the top teams based on the following criteria:
  - a) Application completeness
  - b) Innovation: does the idea fill an existing gap in the market?
  - c) Marketability: does the idea truly address a want or need apparent among contemporary consumers?

- d) Marketability: did the team fully address the competitive environment and clearly articulate the team’s advantages over the competition?
- e) Marketability: does the product/service/business address a larger food system problem in a way that will appeal to consumers?
- f) Presentation: was the application content well-written (coherent, concise, effective, engaging)?

C. All team members from “top” teams will participate in a three-credit All-Stars Entrepreneurship Directed Experiential Education (DEE) course that will meet once weekly throughout the fall 2022 semester. During course sessions, JWU faculty and staff, along with the Entrepreneur in Residence and his/her professional associates, will help top teams hone their business/product/service proposals into formal business plans, to include “brand identity” design work and product prototypes where relevant.

D. For completing their business plans, each top team will receive $150 for ingredients, printing, supplies, and other expenses. This money will be granted to each top team reasonably soon after the beginning of the fall 2022 semester.

E. It is expected that all team members will participate in weekly entrepreneurship course sessions; team members must communicate any absences to the course’s instructor of record in advance. The instructor of record has the right—at any time, in his/her sole discretion—to disqualify a top team from the Contest due to unexcused absence or general non-performance.

F. On or by November 20, 2022, the Challenge Panel will review each team’s completed business plan and will select up to three finalist teams to “pitch” their plans and any supporting materials to a team of judges, selected by JWU in its sole discretion. Pitches will occur before December 3, 2022. The three finalist teams will be selected based on a comprehensive review of each team’s business plan and assessment of those plans for potential investor appeal.

G. On or by December 3, 2022 the team of judges will select one winning team (The Future Food All-Star) to receive $5,000 as its prize. JWU reserves the right to substitute prizes of equal or greater value for the $5,000. The winning student team will be selected based on the judges’ appraisal of each pitch’s investor appeal, market readiness, effectiveness and innovation.
